Subject: Discoloured tablets - Cardiotat 10 mg Tablets, batch CRD-25084

Dear Quality Assurance team,

I am the responsible pharmacist at Northfield Health Dispensary. On 11 June 2026 a patient returned an unopened bottle of Cardiotat 10 mg Tablets (batch CRD-25084, manufactured 2025-08-19, expiry 2027-08-31) because the tablets had changed colour.

We opened a second bottle from the same delivery and found the same problem: roughly 40 of the 90 tablets have brown mottled patches on one face, while the rest look normal. There is no unusual smell and the bottle seal was intact when opened. The stock has been stored in our dispensary at room temperature, away from direct sunlight, since delivery on 2 June 2026.

We have quarantined the remaining 6 bottles from this delivery and have not dispensed any further units. Photographs are available on request, and we have retained the affected bottles.

Please advise whether we should return the stock and whether patients who already received tablets from this batch need to be contacted.

Kind regards,
Priya Raman
